▼ Consent and design

Consent

Before a plaque can be erected, the location of individual plaques needs to be consistent with current planning, heritage and environmental policies and Plans of Management for Woollahra Council. In cases where a plaque is to be installed on privately owned buildings or sites, permission must be requested and given by the owners of the building in question. If an owner is not in agreement then the proposal cannot go ahead at that address.

Nomination for a plaque and the decision to award one is not a substitute for the assessment of heritage significance carried out for potential heritage items. The award of a plaque does not represent a decision of Council to elevate a building or place to the status of a heritage item.

Design

The design of the plaque is decided by Woollahra Council.

Office use only

As owner of the land to which this plaque nomination relates, I consent to this nomination.

In cases where a plaque is to be installed on privately owned buildings or sites subject to a covenant, the benefit of which covenant is given to Council to install and enter and maintain and repair, and the burden of which lies with the subject land and successors in title.
