

Studiosity

How does the service work?

We all get need help sometimes...

On homework, an essay draft, or resume writing. With Studiosity, help is always there - 24/7, online, on-demand.

A real, subject-area specialist is waiting to help you. Type, draw on the online whiteboard, upload a pic of your textbook, and ask a question. The help is always one-to-one (and it's anonymous so there's no such thing as a silly question.)

You can even upload a draft essay you're working on, and get feedback in less than 24 hours (tip: upload your file before you go to sleep!)

Who are the people, the 'Subject Specialists'?

The best minds; made up of teachers, university academics, and other professional experts.

Every single Specialist must pass stringent tests, screening, background checks, and training in line with Australian education standards.

What help can you get with job applications?

A well-written CV and resume might be why your future boss asks for an interview! It is important that spelling, phrasing, grammar, and structure are taken care of before you click send.

Chat in real time with a specialist under the 'Job Skills for Adults' subject, or upload your CV or resume to the writing feedback service.

What are the educational standards?

We've been around for more than 15 years. In 2020, you can find us in almost 70% of Australian universities, plus schools, TAFEs, and government programs.

With the highest academic standards and ethical policies, parents and teachers are assured that the help students receive is contributing to their capability to think for themselves - we employ constructivist learning techniques, and a strict 'no answers' policy.

We also have an Academic Advisory Board, including some of Australia's most respected educators, from high school to university.
